Conference Relates Education, Industry

The Manpower Conference of January 13-14 in Union, Washington, hosted by the Boeing Company and attended by Dr. Albert Ayars, Superintendent of Spokane Public Schools, served to reinforce dramatically our concepts of the interdependence of education and industry.

Boeing, entering upon a period of rapid expansion and the largest hiring effort in its history, called upon the schools and colleges to help fill its urgent need. A recruiting office is being established in Spokane.

The Company asked for closer collaboration between business and education. The need for skilled workers and improvement in the vocational education field were stressed. The Company, said its representatives, can't survive without skilled manual workers and technicians. The Company will, they said, depend upon the schools for survival.

While there is great need for people with professional and technical competence, 78 percent of the openings are for people with "entry" skills - semi-skilled workers. There is also great demand for skilled workers. Critical needs were cited for people with the skills required by draftsmen, electricians, inspectors, machine operators, tool fabricators, final assemblers, mockup mechanics and sheet metal mechanics.

The industry representatives cited the need to "return honor and prestige to the "blue collar" worker."

Lynn And Rick To Reign For Spring Semester

"I think it's going to be a great semester and we have a good bunch of girls," commented Lynn Adkison, the newly elected secondsemester League of Dresden president.

Election procedure spanned an exciting week beginning with an introductory convocation on January 12, followed by an enthusiastic week of campaigning and ending with the final election on January 21.

The officers include Polli Hamlin, vice-president; Camille Erickson, secretary; Sue Miller, treasurer; Wendy Heath, historian and Susan Francis, sergeant-at-arms.

Finalists were Pam Bakken, president; Jan Dagman, vicepresident; Linette Flinders, secretary; Kristie Flinders, treasurer; Sue Brunner, historian and Kathy Groves, sergeant-at-arms.

Professor Discusses Industrial Arts Jobs

Mr. Killin, a Professor of Industrial Arts at Eastern Washington State College spoke to the Ferris industrial arts classes on January 26 concerning job opportunities in this field.

He told of the changing job patterns and modern technology coming to EWSC for industrial arts purposes. He went on to explain that in the next 30 years, 60 million jobs will change in character and will be replaced by machines in the industrial arts field. All persons need not have the same ambition. There are many different skills needed. Throughout his speech, Mr. Killin stressed the fact that industrial arts is highly challenging work.

"There's a place for those willing to work and use their ingenuity," commented Mr. Killin.

Officers for Joel E. Ferris' Court of Carmine were recently elected in the usual hard fought, exciting manner. Senior Nick Feldman was picked by the male students to succeed Pat Miller in leading the boys for the spring semester of 1966. Nick promises a successful term with many projects and activities planned. His duties consist of presiding over meetings of the Carmine representatives, acting as chairman for all committees and securing a successful Court.

Runners up were Mike Dixon for president; John Sepolen, vicepresident; Dave Mohler, secretary; and Karl Olsen, treasurer.

According to Mr. Arthur Blauert, candidates must be senior girls and will be judged on the basis of appearance, personality, poise and speaking ability.

Ferris' princess will be selected on April 15 in order for her to participate in the final judging along with the other high school

The Lilac Queen will be chosen at the 1966 Coronation, May 13, after which she and her princesses will reign over the Lilac Festival in May.

Rick Will Run Again in L.A.

One of Joel E. Ferris high school's proudest possessions is senior Rick Riley, 5 feet 8 inches and 122 pounds of dedicated run-

Rick will help to put Ferris on the "map" when he challenges a gaggle of sub-four minute milers at the seventh annual Times Indoor Games, Saturday night, February 12, at the Los Angeles Memorial Sports Arena. His best time is 4:11 in the mile run, but he's ready to take on four of the best milers in the world, Jim Grelle, John Davies, Bob Day and Basil Clifford.

Rick won a special high school mile at the Los Angeles Invitational in 4:14:4, with his nearest competitor being some ten seconds behind.

We really think Rick has the potential to get down around four minutes this year," says his coach, Mr. Herman Caviness. "Maybe the caliber of competition in this field will give him the boost that he needs.'

Ricks's goal for this season, according to his coach, are to get under four minutes for the mile and under nine for the two miles.

Juniors wishing to sign up for the National Merit Scholarship Test which will be held Saturday, February 26, should sign up in the Student Office now. Price - $2.00.

Girls are reminded that tryouts for the Valkyrs will be held in the near futur. Do not sign up for this course on your fall registration sheet until after tryouts. Sign up for regular P. E. Girls making Valkyrs will be automatically transferred to this class.

February 2, 1966, was the day of the ASB installation, and the Court of Carmine and League of Dresden held their installations on February 9.

There was a Music Concert in the Ferris auditorium, Wednesday, January 26 at 7:30. The band, dance band, orchestra and girls' ensemble presented a varied program for adults and students.

All students who must take the American College Testing Program are reminded that the registration deadline for the next testing session is April 2, for the April 23 testing date.

Congratulations to Bill Funnell and Rich Henry, who received appointments to the Science Symposium which will be conducted at the University of Washington, February 16th through the 19th.

Thursday, January 27, the senior class held a farewell party for Mr. James Lundberg on his last day as a councilor for Ferris. He was presented with a cap, gown, degree and cake by president Bill Dodge and other class members during a scheduled Political Science large group.

Is It The 'Eve of Destruction?'

Can it really be true? Is the era of the "protest song" really coming to a close?

These emotion-packed warblings, which glow with the same pure and undisguised hate as that of the draft-card burners, are envisioned by adults as carying the true feelings of all but the very few mature-minded teenagers in America.

Protest songs visualize a hate-filled world that is finished except for officially dropping a bomb. You might also notice that in their hurry to completely degrade the human race and American mode of life, these song writers (?) forget that anything good exists.

"Hate" songs, along with burning draft cards and human torches, represent a form of treason to our government. We're all Americans. Why should only a few bear the burden in this time of turmoil? Why can't we learn to count our wonderful blessings in a free country, instead of moaning over them?

Greedom Has True Meaning

Freedom is a word often used in today's conversations. However, many times the meaning is altered so as to fit a specific need. Just what is true freedom?

Webster's says it is a quality of being free, free in choice or will and that it is a privilege. Just what does this definition include?

On a small scale, what is freedom in relation to our Honor Pass? Does it mean we can do as we like, make our own choices, or is this freedom a privilege to be handled carefully? Are we Democracy in this country says we have a freedom of choice and will in our government. Here again it is a privilege. But how many people realize how great this is? Does everyone take the active part he should? How can we continue to have this great government if we do not show interest in our rights and responsibilities?

In the South, the negroes are being denied their right to be a part of our democracy. Is this not their freedom? How can one man keep another from voting or working if he wishes? If freedom is truly a privilege, it should not be allowed to be taken away. If this can happen there, what is to keep it from happening in other places where people just don't care enough to stand up and fight for the freedom of those who cannot fight for themselves?

Perhaps freedom, then, is the reason we are fighting in Viet Nam. We Americans, who realize what freedom is and does, are naturally willing to help others in their fight for independence. Maybe we are right in wanting the whole world to be free, but first, shouldn't we be sure that the people of the United States know what freedom really means to them. K.E.

School Play Comes Soon

The Robin Hood Capers, a threeact comedy written by Fred Carmichael, will be presented in the Ferris auditorium at 7:30 p.m., February 16 and 17.

Mr. Carmichael has taken the old plot of rob from the rich give to the poor and turned it into an hilarious story about four retired women crooks who meet semi-annually to report on their work in the Charities Anonymous

The play takes place over a period of two days and has several main characters. These include Barbara Annis and Debbie Mott as Jessica Selbey; Barbara Brown and Jo Smith as Flora; Mona Hines and Marcia Ross as Emily Jordan; Lorry McLellan and Carolyn Helphrey as Sylvia Coats; Scott Ashcom as Jason Boslay; Steve Hanson, Phillip Mullens; Tom Tomlinson, Richard Collins; Keith Blowers, Hubert Ratner; Jim Franklin, Warren Coats; and Don Randall, Frederick Rugles.

If Annie Get Your Gun and Moor Born are any indication of the quality of Ferris' dramatic productions, The Robin Hood Capers will be a tremendous success.

To Sweetie With Love

Right about now many of us are searching for "romantic" gifts we can give to that special someone on February 14, Valentine s Day.

When asked why we have such a thing as Valentine's Day, most people would probably shrug and mumble that they heard it had something to do with a St. Val-

It is believed, however, that the custom of sending "valentines" had most probably only an accidental connection with St. Valentine. Valentine's Day really owes its origin to the medieval belief, held in England and France, that it was at the start of the second fortnight of the second month that the birds began to mate. One English writer puts is this way: "For this was on seynt Valentynes day whan every foul cometh ther to chese his make."

So it is that we owe this joyful holiday to a handful of birds who went in search of a spouse during the second week of Febru-

TOM SHERRY

"Anyone hear who got ASB President this semester?'

"Well, I don't know for sure but I think someone said it was TOM SHERRY."

Tom was born in Parca, Washington on August 20, 1948 (in case anyone would care to give him a birthday present this year).

When asked what his favorite academic subjects are he contemplated a moment and then dropped this simple statement, "I have none this year."

Tom has been active in nonacademic activities this year. He has served on various ASB, Court of Carmine and dance committees, was ASB treasurer last year, and is one of the great Ferris wrestlers. Upon graduation he plans to attend Central Washington State College.

Tom's time outside of school is given to his quarter-horse Penny. The family pet is a dog named Guss. Tom warned that the name is misleading — the dog is a girl.

LYNN ADKISON

Take one girl who blushes when she laughs, another whose brown hair is seven inches long, one who was recently elected League of Dresden president and one whose eyes sparkle when she laughs - what do you have? You have four darling girls, but roll them all together and with whom do you come out? Lynn Adkinson, that's who!

Not only is Lynn attractive, but she is also an expert skiier. She teaches Penney's Ski School on Mt. Spokane and has raced for the Spokane Ski Racing Association. She also loves to water ski and dance. Boy! What a way to Skiing and dancing rate high on Lynn's list of favorite activities but art still reigns as her main love. Lynn would like to go out of state to school after she graduates this spring, preferring Oregon or Colorado State.

Lynn has been very active in the junior and senior classes having been chairman of the junior prom last year.

Between skiing, dancing and being League of Dresden president, Lynn is a very busy girl.

Dasidrian Hosts Talent

Within the city of Spokane is an organized group of very talented artists. They are comprised of high school girls from all over the city. On Friday nights they meet together under the heading of "Dasidrian All-City Talent Club."

If you are a talented girl in high school you are eligible for membership. There are a few stipulations however.

Number one: you must be taking lessons in the form of talent that you have.

Number two: you must be asked to join by a member and so be sponsored.

Number three: you must try out in front of girls who have the same type of talent as you.

Number four: you must try out again in front of the entire club (assuming that you make the finals).

Now, if you succeed in these four steps and can survive the initiation, you are in! But just what exactly are you in for? Fun, work, and more fun.

Besides just fun, this organization is serving a wonderful purpose: The piano players, violinists, dancers, and dramatists all are wonderfully philanthropic in their frolics.

They are always volunteering to entertain invalids, hospitals and other deprived institutions.

Once a year this club puts on a performance. This year is called "Frivolities" and is coming up soon. It should be quite a show all talents considered.

Modern Life Achieved In World Of Numbers

"Why did I ever take this math course?" moans one Ferris Saxon. "How could it ever help me in life?" Chances are this student doesn't know how practical and essential math really is in the modern world.

Paper airplane techniques are demonstrated by Mr. Johnson in math instruction.

Today is an age of numbers, figures and formulas, and in turn many new mathematical careers are opening up. You could be a programmer for Electronic Data Processing equipment and work with giant computers.

If you excell in math, you might try research mathematics and help send a man to Mars. Or you could always keep yourself busy as a research mathematician in the biological management of social sciences. Engineers, teachers and statisticians are only a few of the promising careers open in mathematics.

Even if you aren't a whiz kid in intermediate math or algebra and don't plan on math as a career, it still could be helpful to you in many ways. Small businesses have to keep books and business men work with figures in some way or the other every

Perhaps your goal is to be the bum of the year. Still math can aid your career by helping you to think logically and clearly. It brings discipline and organization to confused thoughts.

"Even girls can find no excuse for not taking math," commented Mr. Bob Johnson of the math department. Mathematical careers once closed to girls are now open. Many girls at Ferris realize how practical and essential math is.

Seniors Mary Ann Hammond and Greta Smith both have taken math all through high school for good reasons. Mary Ann plans on a career in data processing, and Greta finds math essential for her degree in nursing.

"That's all right for some girls," argues one feminine Saxon, "but I plan to get married soon after graduation. How could math help Math is practical not only in careers but in home, too. "Who's going to help little junior with his "new math" when he goes to school? And who's going to help hubby with the income tax returns in the spring? And also if you're stretching the budget, math comes in very handy while shopping.

In other words, math is so valuable in today's world that we could not get along without it. In the past math has helped give us many inventions such as the telephone and airplane. Today math has given us the mighty world of the atom. And with the help of today's young mathematicians, the future will unlock the fantastic space age and with it the key to the universe.

And who said the new math wasn't practical?

Test papers of all school winners in the state are being judged, and a State Homemaker of Tomorrow and runner-up will be selected soon. The state winner will receive a $1,500 college scholarship, and her school will be awarded a complete set of the Encyclopedia Britannica. The Saxon Scribe

Court of Witan is an excellent choice for the name of the Political Science club at Joel E. Ferris. In the times of the Saxons, the Witan was a body of subordinate chieftains formed to help the King,

Originally it was a cooperative organization without whose help the king would not have been able to wage war or maintain internal peace in the country. After starting in the 9th century it lasted about one hundred years before it ended. Witan reconvened in the Twelve Hundreds.

Witena-gemot, as it was often called, met irregularly at the summons of the king. There was no fixed time or place. Usually Witan met around Easter time at the king's residence.

The Anglo-Saxon Court of Witan's main purposes were to make laws, settle land disputes, banish, punish or pardon criminals, and often help the king with military problems.

The Witan was a major part of the political scene of the early Anglo-Saxon age. It was a forerunner of the House of Commons and the House of Lords in Eng-

What a week February 15, 1965, was! Saxons were intoxicated with joy over their first league victory played against Mead high school on February 12. The score was 61-58 and "Ghandi" Nick Feldman made 19 of those points. Yup! Everybody sure was a bit whoozy that week. (Hmm! It's not what you're thinking)

On February 10, 200 students from 10 Spokane high schools met at good ol' JEF for a Student Leadership Conference. Classes on "school spirit" and "committees and leadership" took up most of the day.

On February 11, sophomores got a thrill from the skit and panel called, "We'd rather fight than light" put on by Mary Beth Phelps, Suzie Harris, Jan Swanson, John Sepolen and Pat Miller. Sophomores were seen spying behind buildings, bushes and cars. No reports were heard, so evidently they follow their own advice. (Well - what else can you expect?)

Sweet Cindy Salladay had won a three-tiered serving tray through the Co-ed magazine in February last year. (Win a few more Cindy and pretty soon we can melt 'em down and make silver dollars.)

Elections were held during February last year, with Sue Daiger becoming the new League of Dresden president. Rick Riley ran for Court of Carmine president and won the election. (That's not all he runs and wins at.) Randy Hopkins was elected the new ASB president.

Saxons Battle the Baskets

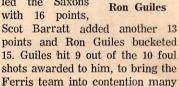

South Hill fans have witnessed much excitement in the last few weeks as the Saxon's Varsity Basketball team has been improving tremendously. The Saxons chalked up another win over Mead. This gives the Saxons a 2-5 standing in league play.

Ferris 54 - University 61

The Ferris Saxons met the University Titans for a closely fought game last week. The leading team changed hands several times, but the Saxons were defeated.

The Saxons hit for 24 points from the foul line, compared to only 9 for University, but poor shooting from the field hampered any chance of success.

Marc Wallace led the Saxons with 16 points,

Ferris jumped to a fast 24-12 first quarter lead. Mead closed the gap and Ferris left the floor with a 38-31 halftime advantage.

The Panthers closed the gap even more in the third quarter behind the shooting

Nick Feldman was top scorer for the victors with 26 points. Scot Barratt had his best night with 20 points and plenty of rebounds. Ron Guiles added another 16 points.

From Under The Mat

During a pep convocation held at the beginning of the wrestling season, Coach Pixley, wrestling coach said that Lynn Gilbert is Ferris' possible state champion.

Lynn started wrestling at Ferris in the fall of 1963. He wrestles in the 175-8 weight division. Last year Lynn won 6 matches by pins, which was a tie for the league record that year.

So far this season he has won all of his league matches, four of them being pins.

"I'd rather do it myself!"

Aside from wrestling Lynn has been an ASB representative for two years, a member of the Saxon Thanes (Lettermen's Club) and involved in the Court of Carmine.

Lynn was also a member of the varsity football team as a fullback and turned out for track in his sophomore and junior years.

Lynn's hobbies are hunting, fishing, skiing and boating. He hopes to be a teacher or do something in the way of police science.

Gilbert comments about wrestling: "It is the best individual sport there is - it's good for the body as well as the mind, especially with the best coach in town."
